CONFERENCE THEME

We chose the theme and title Just Food: *because it is never Just Food, because it highlights both long-standing inequities around food access, representation, and ideas so often ensconced in systems of exclusion, oppression, and power. Cultural and historical entanglements of food with social justice—production, distribution, and consumption of food—reveal power differentials in local and global world systems. Conversely, the theme of the conference seeks ways to challenge the systemic injustices of both industrial and alternative food systems that marginalize the food histories, practices, and experiences of diverse communities including Indigenous, Black, and other people of color. This conference also celebrates the ways people use food for pleasure and autonomy, heritage and knowledge. The conference aims to make connections between diverse perspectives—researchers and academics, farmers, chefs, food producers and other laborers, to center historically marginalized voices, and to work towards building a greater understanding of how to achieve food justice on Turtle Island (North America) and globally.

By the end of the conference, we hope that attendees might ponder and answer, “how might I meaningfully contribute to food justice?”

WELCOME TO JUST FOOD: BECAUSE IT IS NEVER JUST FOOD

We are so delighted to have you be part of this year's conference; we hope you find it a respite full of community, ideas, solutions and opportunities against the very real issues of the day: food insecurity, economic exploitation, systemic racism, and (to a much lesser degree) exhaustion from online teaching and meetings.

While we are disappointed not to be physically together, the virtual format has allowed the conference to be more geographically, economically, linguistically and logistically inclusive and for that we are thankful. This is the first year that the conference has been trilingual with papers in English, French, and Spanish, and the first time the conference has created spaces for affinity groups to meet. The paper abstracts, roundtables, lightening sessions and creative panels offer something for all attendees, and we hope that you will make time to join (or start) a “meet up” where you can meet other participants over a virtual beverage of your choice.

On behalf of the rest of the conference committee, we owe extraordinary gratitude to Stephanie Borkowsky, who has kept us organized, answered countless emails, compiled endless spreadsheets, and shepherded over 950 attendees. And she did it all with professionalism, courtesy and grace. This conference simply could not have happened without her.

For those who are new to our four organizations (ASFS, AFHVS, CAFS, & SAFN), we hope that you will continue to be part of us in the form of journal submissions, listservs, and future conferences, and even becoming a board member and helping to shape the future of us and of food studies and food systems scholarship.

On behalf of the conference host institutions, The Culinary Institute of America and New York University, we are delighted to welcome you!

Sincerely,

Jennifer Berg, New York University—Steinhardt Food Studies

Beth Forrest, The Culinary Institute of America—Department of Liberal Arts and Applied Food Studies

ASSOCIATIONS

The Association for the Study of Food and Society (ASFS) was founded in 1985, with the goals of promoting the interdisciplinary study of food and society. It has continued that mission by holding annual meetings; the first was in 1987 and since 1992, the meetings have been held jointly with AFHVS. ASFS works with Routledge Publishing, to produce the quarterly journal, Food, Culture and Society. ASFS members explore the complex relationships among food, culture, and society from numerous disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, and sciences, as well as in the world of food beyond the academy. ASFS encourages vigorous debate on a wide range of topics, such as cross-cultural perspectives on eating behaviors; gender and the food system; recipes, cookbooks, and menu as texts; politics of the family meal; malnutrition, hunger, and food security; comparative food history; and the political economy of the global food system. <https://www.food-culture.org/>

The Agriculture, Food, & Human Values Society (AFHVS) is a professional organization which provides an international forum to engage in the cross-disciplinary study of food, agriculture, and health, as well as an opportunity for examining the values that underlie various visions of food and agricultural systems. From a base of philosophers, sociologists, and anthropologists, AFHVS has grown to include scientists, scholars, and practitioners in areas ranging from agricultural production and social science to nutrition policy and the humanities. AFHVS encourages participation by the growing community of researchers and professionals exploring alternative visions of the food system from numerous perspectives and approaches, including local and regional food systems; alternative food movements; agricultural and food policies, agricultural sustainability, food justice, issues of local and global food security, and food sovereignty. <https://afhvs.wildapricot.org/>

Canadian Association for Food Studies (CAFS) The Canadian Association for Food Studies/L'Association canadienne des études sur l'alimentation was founded in 2005 by academics and professionals from governmental and community organizations interested in promoting interdisciplinary scholarship in the broad area of food systems, including but not limited to food policy, production, distribution, and consumption. Its peer-reviewed journal, Canadian Food Studies/La Revue canadienne des études sur l'alimentation, is published online in openaccess format at www.canadianfoodstudies.ca www.foodstudies.ca

Society for the Anthropology of Food and Nutrition (SAFN) AFHVS and ASFS are pleased to welcome the Society for the Anthropology of Food and Nutrition (SAFN). SAFT was organized in 1974 in response to the increased interest in the interface between social sciences and human nutrition among members of the American Anthropology Association <https://foodanthro.com/>

LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

New York University acknowledges that it is located in ancestral Lenape homelands, and it recognizes the longstanding significance of these lands for Lenape nations past and present. We also want to recognize that New York City has the largest urban Indigenous population in the United States. We believe that addressing structural Indigenous exclusion and erasure is critically important and we are committed to actively working to overcome the ongoing effects and realities of settler-colonialism within the institutions where we currently work. To learn more about the Lenape people please visit <https://thelenapecenter.com/>

The Culinary Institute of America overlooks the Mahicannituck (Hudson River), named by the Mohican people meaning “the waters that never still.” The land upon which the campus sits is the ancestral home of the Wappingers and the Mohicans, both of whom belong to the Algonquian-speaking Indigenous peoples.

After forced treaties and wars in the 17th century, the Wappinger and Mohicans relocated to Stockbridge, MA and joined with the Oneida people. Together, they formed the Stockbridge-Munsee tribe, also known as the Mohican Nation Stockbridge-Munsee Band. Today, many of their descendants live on the Stockbridge-Munsee Indian Reservation in Shawano County, Wisconsin.

We honor the Indigenous people who came before us, and those with whom we now reside. We offer gratitude to their fertile grounds which continue to offer nourishment through its bounty of foods, cultural exchange, and unceasing opportunities of learning.

We are thrilled to welcome participants from around the world to the Just Food: *Because it is never Just Food conference. The virtual format of this year’s event provides us with a unique opportunity to recognize the traditional territories of numerous First Nations and Indigenous groups.

We invite you to acknowledge the traditional territories on which you learn, work, play, eat, and live. Please visit Native Land Digital as a starting point to learn more about territories, languages, and treaties across the world.

The ongoing settler colonial project in Canada, the United States, and elsewhere, continues to, work to eliminate and assimilate Indigenous peoples, often using food as a weapon. These systems continue to perpetuate an unjust food system by limiting food access, food security, and food sovereignty for Indigenous, racialized, and marginalized populations. We invite all participants to reflect deeply on this reality and consider their complicity in, and resistance to, these systems of dominance and oppression.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Wednesday, June 9

1:00-2:00PM

1C2. Film: Raspando and Coco

Raspando coco is an award-winning film about the culinary and medicinal traditions of Afro-Ecuadorians. The film documents the health impacts and culinary traditions surrounding coconut as remembered and experienced by Afro-Ecuadorians in the coast of Ecuador. The movie positions communities of color as important knowledge bearers about health and food and shows the tensions that can arise when development and public health authorities label staple foods, like coconuts, unhealthy. Raspando and Coco will be available to view for the duration of the conference.

Thursday, June 10

1:00-2:00PM

2C. AFHVS Presidential Address, AFHVS Awards, ASFS Awards

8:00-9:30PM

2G4. Film: Follow the Drinking Gourd

Follow the Drinking Gourd is a feature documentary about the Black food justice movement. Family-friendly, funny and moving, this 60-minute film connects the legacy of slavery, land loss, and climate change to our fight for food security.

FEATURED SPEAKERS

Keynote, Dr. Ross Gay

Ross Gay is the author of four books of poetry: Against Which; Bringing the Shovel Down; Be Holding; and Catalog of Unabashed Gratitude, winner of the 2015 National Book Critics Circle Award and the 2016 Kingsley Tufts Poetry Award. He is also the author of Be Holding, (Pittsburgh Press, 2020), The Book of Delights, (Algonquin Books, 2019).

Gay is a founding board member of Bloomington Community Orchard, a non-profit, free-fruit-for-all food justice and joy project. He also works on The Tenderness Project. Dr. Gay teaches at Indiana University.

AFHVS President, Kim Niewolny

Kim Niewolny is an associate professor in the Department of Agricultural, Leadership, and Community Education at Virginia Tech and serves as founding Director of the Center for Food Systems and Community Transformation. Kim's interdisciplinary scholarship centers on the role of power and equity in community education and development with interests in action research; cultural community development; critical pedagogy; multi-sector collaborations for sustainable food systems; and the political praxis of community food work. Current initiatives emphasize Appalachian food justice; new agrarian sustainability; and the intersection of technology, farmers, and disability. Kim teaches in the Civic Agriculture and Food Systems Program and provides co-leadership for the Community, Local, and Regional Food Systems Program Team through Virginia Cooperative Extension.

ASFS President, Beth Forrest

Beth Forrest is Professor of Liberal Arts and Applied Food Studies at the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, NY with a PhD in History from Boston University. She organized the 2006 conference, held at Boston University and edited and co-edited the abstracts for Appetite, most recently for the 2011 conference. She was Guest Editor of a special issue of the journal Food and Foodways on chocolate and is currently working on an edited volume that considers the role of sauces and condiments in the west (Oxford UP) and an edited volume that considers the role of memory and imagination on food and identity (Bloomsbury, 2021). She served as the administrator for the 2012 – 2015 ASFS book, article awards, and the 2012 – 2014 pedagogy awards. She has been an active member of ASFS since 2005. She was elected to the board in 2006, re-elected in 2012, served as secretary 2013-2018, and began as president in 2019.

CAFS President, Amanda Wilson

Amanda Wilson is an Assistant Professor in the School of Social Innovation at Saint Paul University. She holds a PhD in Sociology, with a Specialization in Political Economy. Her areas of research include the food movement and carceral food systems, co-operatives and collective organizing, and questions related to prefiguration and enacting a politics of possibility. Outside of academia, she has worked with several non-governmental organizations in the areas of policy analysis, research, network coordination and popular education, and is a long-time community organizer and activist in Ottawa.

SAFN President, Joan Gross

Joan Gross is a professor of anthropology at Oregon State University and president of the Society for the Anthropology of Food and Nutrition. Her research on food insecurity in Oregon launched her into local food activism and development of the Food in Culture and Social Justice program at OSU. To add an experiential and international component to that program, she runs an Intercultural Learning Community uniting food activists in Oregon and Ecuador. Her plans to host this meeting in Corvallis, Oregon were thwarted by the pandemic, but she's happy to serve on the steering committee of this virtual conference.

WHOVA GUIDE

Agenda

- Find the agenda tab located on menu on the left side of your computer screen.
- Move through different days by selecting the date you want to view on the calendar at the top of the agenda
- Browse or search for sessions on the top bar
- If the session hasn't occurred yet, you can click Add to My Agenda to put the session on your own personal agenda and set a reminder (see photo).

The screenshot shows the Whova interface for the event 'Just Food: Because It Is Never Just Food' (June 9-15, 2021). The left sidebar contains a 'MAIN NAVIGATION' menu with 'Agenda' highlighted. The main content area displays a list of sessions with filters and a search bar. Three sessions are visible:

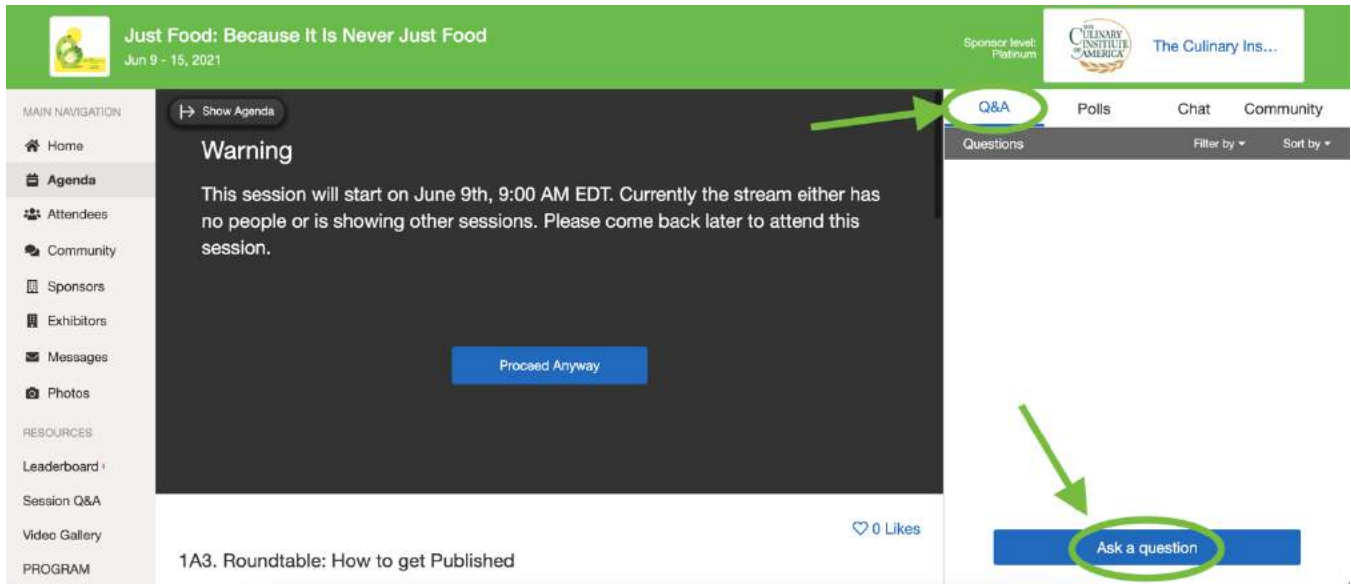

- 1E3. Panel: COVID Foodways: changing urban food cultures in the coronavirus pandemic (4:30 PM - 6:00 PM). Speakers: Aiko Kojima Hibino, James Farmer, Irina Gendelman, Jeff Birkenstein, Ariana Gunderson. Buttons: View Session, Add to My Agenda.

- 1E5. Panel: Food Pantries and Insecurity (4:30 PM - 6:00 PM). Speakers: Melissa Begey, Sonya Shariffard, Lillbeth Tome, Chris Hsu. Buttons: View Session, Add to My Agenda.

Green arrows point to the 'Agenda' tab in the sidebar and the 'Add to My Agenda' button for the first session.

Sessions

- From the agenda, click the session you want to attend.
- If it is the session time, click "Proceed" to start watching the stream. Then "Join Audio" and watch the session!
- You can access three tabs on the right hand side of the virtual session: Session Q&A, Chat, and Community. You can submit questions for the presenter through Session Q&A (see photo) participate in ongoing discussions with the other attendees viewing the session through Chat, and browse the Community Board function through Community.

Attendees

- Find the “Attendees” tab located on menu on the left side of your computer screen.
- At the top of the page, you can search attendees by name or keywords such as their institution.
- To start a conversation, click “Send Message” to begin a chat.

Community Board

- Find the “Community” tab located on menu on the left side of your computer screen
- Create a new conversation topic, or use existing topics to connect over shared interests

Meet ups

- Go to the Community Board, and select the board for Meet-ups

- Find the meetup you are interested in, join directly, or click into it to see more details (see photo), and then click “RSVP”
- When the meetup starts, click “Join meeting room” to start chatting!

We encourage you to suggest new meetups by tapping “Suggest a Meet” and inputting the details. You have the option to include a virtual meeting link (eg. zoom link) or to use Whova’s virtual meeting room, which can accommodate up to 30 people per room

SOCIAL MEDIA GUIDE #JUSTFOOD21

From the 2020 ASFS/AFHVS Twitter Conference Guide created by Emily Contois and KC Hysmith

Setting up a Twitter account (if you don't have one yet!)

Twitter is an online social network where registered users can share and read “tweets” of up to 280 characters of text, links, and images. For academics, Twitter is a great space to network, join conversations, share your work, and make a public impact. Before you join Twitter, consider if it will be a solely professional forum for you or a more informal social space as well. As part of your online presence, you'll want to consider how you use Twitter to your greatest benefit.

- Choose a Twitter handle that is as short as possible. It can be a combination of your name or initials (e.g. @JABrillatSavarin) or a word or very short phrase that relates to your research (e.g. @foodaphorisms). If you go the word/phrase route, you can list your full name as your user name, so people will be able to identify the account as yours.
- Use the bio space efficiently. If you're cultivating a purely academic or professional profile, include information like your discipline, institution, and areas of research interest. If you're using Twitter more informally, you may want to also include personal information (e.g. avid baker, dog lover, yoga addict).
- Choose a profile picture. For a purely academic presence, choose a photo that is professional looking or an avatar that relates to your research or general persona. Don't leave the profile photo as the default “egg” image. It makes you look like a spammer. Note that the Twitter profile picture size is 400 x 400 pixels.
- Add a header image. It can relate to your research (e.g. an archival photo or field site shot), academic life (e.g. a shot of books (or your published book!), a reading room, or coffee), or your personal life (e.g. the beach, your dog, your loved ones, etc.). Note that the Twitter header picture size is 1500 x 500 pixels.
- Add a link, such as to your department page or personal website, and your location.

Sample Twitter profiles of ASFS & AFHVS members, for inspiration and to follow (images are hyperlinked):

Anatomy of Tweet

Tweets can only be a maximum of 280 characters long, so it's a medium that requires concise communication. A tweet can be all text or include images (see page 5 for more details on visuals). Including mentions, hashtags, and links makes your tweets more informational and more likely to generate social connections.

- Mentions. This is how you tag another person or entity on Twitter using “@” and then their Twitter handle. For example, if you really enjoy someone’s presentation, tweet about it and make sure to mention them. Hopefully they’ll retweet you or respond!
- Hashtags. Usually placed within or at the end of tweets, hashtags help you to be part of a conversation. By following a hashtag, users can see what an entire community is tweeting on a particular topic (e.g. #foodhistory) or at a particular event like our conference, #justfood21. Use hashtags (especially during our conference!) so your tweets aren’t just floating in the Twitter universe. Give them a home and a community.
- Retweet, Comment, Like & Reply to Tweets. To show support or agreement or to help spread the word on a topic, you can retweet or like others’ tweets by clicking on the circular arrow or heart icons that appear below the tweet. You can also “retweet with comment” to share a tweet and offer your own commentary. You can also reply directly to the user to start a conversation by clicking the speech bubble icon.
- Proofread. You can delete, but not edit, tweets, so proofread carefully before publishing. A sample tweet with a mention, hashtags, link, and image

Setting up an Instagram account (if you don't have one yet!)

Before you join Instagram, you'll want to consider if Instagram will be a solely professional forum for you or a more informal social space as well. Will you post just about food studies and academia or will you also share images of your family, hobbies, or weekend brunch spot? As part of your online presence, you'll want to consider how you use Instagram and any other social media platform to your greatest benefit. Once you've thought through these issues, setting up an Instagram account is quick and easy. Just follow these steps:

- Download the Instagram app to your phone.
- Choose an Instagram handle that is as short as possible. It can be a combination of your name or initials (e.g. @JABrillatSavarin) or a word or very short phrase that relates to your research (e.g. @foodaphorisms). If you go the word/phrase route, you can list your full name as your username, so people will be able to identify the account as yours. Though it isn't necessary, users often select the same name cross-platforms (i.e. use the same handle for Twitter and Instagram. It makes it easier for people to find you!).
- Use the bio space efficiently. If you're cultivating a purely academic or professional profile, include information like your discipline, institution, and areas of research interest. If you're using Instagram more informally, you may want to also include personal information (e.g. avid baker, dog lover, yoga addict).
- Choose a profile picture. For a purely academic presence, choose a photo that is professional looking or an avatar that relates to your research or general persona.
- Link to your department webpage or your professional website.

How and what to Instagram

Unlike Twitter, Instagram relies heavily on visuals. An Instagram must include an uploaded image or video to post. These images can range from quick snapshots pulled from your phone gallery to professional photographs. It's really up to you and your style. Within the app, you can further edit and "filter" your image or video to your liking.

After selecting your image or video, you can include a caption of up to 2200 characters and up to 30 hashtags (for more information on hashtags see the next subheading). Unlike Twitter, a caption need not be concise, but can still start a conversation, pose questions, and provide answers. That said, a short, informational or witty caption is always welcome, too! Within the caption, you can include tags (i.e. mention other people's handles) and use hashtags. Before publishing the image, you can also add your location (this applies more to location-specific images, i.e. special restaurants, famous libraries or universities, or landmarks) and tag other users' handles.

- Tag. On Instagram, "mentions" are typically called "tags." For example, if you attend a great panel, take a picture and post it, and tag the speaker using their Instagram handle. The author might like your post or respond with a comment! Tagging in this way notifies them of the tag.
- Hashtags. Usually placed within or at the end of post captions, hashtags help you to be part of a conversation. By following a hashtag, users can see what an entire community is posting on a particular topic (e.g. #foodhistory) or at a particular event like our conference, #justfood21. Hashtags are now applicable and trackable cross-platform (including Instagram, Twitter, and Facebook). Use hashtags (especially at the conference!) so your Instagram posts aren't just floating in the Instagram and larger social media universe. Give them a home and a community.

- Like, Regram, & Reply to Instagram Posts. To show support or agreement or to help spread the word on a topic, you can:
  - Like others' Instagram posts by double tapping on the middle of the image, after which a white heart will appear and then fade away.
  - Regram a post to offer your own commentary or show solidarity by taking a screenshot and reposting the image on your own feed (see below for two etiquette points about "regrams").
  - Reply directly to the user to start a conversation by commenting on their image and tagging other users who you think might be interested in the topic. If you'd rather your comments be private, send a direct message instead.
